I began teaching Circle Dance in the early 90's. I have always felt shared dance to be a vehicle of integration and joy. I became creatively engaged in running various camps for over a decade and have 'come out' anew in the dance with a deeper sense of the value of sharing; a heartfelt repertoire of dances that I sing, and dances that inspire me - including some I created. My approach is inclusive and musical but clear in direction and purpose. 'Dancing in the Heart' is an indicator of my approach and invitation. For the dances embody the qualities of our hearts, in which we may be touched and moved from within ~ Brian

“I share dance within a musical presence and invite a heartfelt participation in a love of music and dance”
