Yesterday as the sun turned - ivalla! Yesterday afternoon, They came and stole - ivalla! The morning star. They were eleven, they were twelve, they were thirteen, All with horses, all with weapons, so they would be feared! Up runs Botsaris - ivalla! And Karafotias, They take up weapons - ivalla! Against the Arvanites. And from the fighting, from the bloodshed and from the carnage, Houses cracked and collapsed, the mountain shook! Yesterday as the sun turned - ivalla! Yesterday afternoon, They did not take from us - ivalla! The morning star. Here is to you, Botsaris - ivalla! And Karafotias, You have shamed - ivalla! The Arvanites.
