gus-kee-teh ni o-tera, gai-dah-ta mi ya ze-mah

From home to the marketplace I embarked with my colourful bagpipe to go to work and to play my bagpipe. Colourful bagpipe, adorned, decorated with beads. I play, I sing, I dance. I was hired at the priest's to graze the geese. I took them out in the moonlight to where the grass doesn't grow and where water doesn't flow. Along came the big ol' priest, rolling his eyes and crying. He hit me twice.
